FORTY-NINE men, indicted for rioting and conspiracy, were arraigned at Milwankee, all pleading not guilty. They were held for trial in bonds of $1,000 to $2,000. These men were alleged participants in the late Anarchist riots at Milwaukec.

Ir has been discovered that numbers of the boys of Washington have become diseased from smoking oka cigarettes, and a bill will be introduced in Congress to stop their sale and to close fifteen opium "joints" that are known to exist in the city.

Avoid, by all means, the use of calomel for bilhops complaints. Ayer's Cathartic Pills, entirely vegetable, have been tested forty years, and are acknowledged to be the best remedy for torpidity of the liver, costiveness, and all derangements of the digestive apparatus.

THE English scientific commission appointed to inquire into M. l'asteur's process have completed an elaborate investigation and are preparing a report which will affirm the efficiency of his method as a cure for hydrophobia, ranking it among the chief scientific discoveries of the century.

Some one claims to have discovered a statute which will prevent the President's acceptance of the wedding presents sent by officers of the Government. It will be just as well, in this case, to ignore the President and insist that the gitts were intended for his winsome bride and not for his bald-headed self.

THE Albany corre pondent of the New York Commercial Advertiser says that it seems to be well understood there that Secretary Manning will have no further connection with the Treasury after October 1, and that he will return home and Bank, which he left togo to Washington, and which has since been vacant.

sionally the mother also, has grown to think that simple prettiness is of no possible use. They have outgrown their youthful thoughts, tolhes in their eyes now, and have learned to say, What's its use? to everything new. If a girl in her home life be allowed to rearrange the rooms according to her taste, to bring into the iiving-room plants or simply her flowers, to occasionally have some new ornament, cheap in many cases it may be, but have it in its newness a thing of beauty, and not have some one saying: It's use'ess; it can neither be eaten nor worn-she will take much more comfort, and care much more for her father's home. There are fathers who love their daughters-as well as they know how-and still they never allow them to think money or time can be spent on anything that is not in itself of some obvious use; they pooh peohed at the idea of a flewerbed; they object to vines on the house because they are rubbish; and the idea of a prettily-furnished room, either for the family or for the daughter herself, is an unheard-of folly.

When these girls go out from the barren home-life, what wonder that they seldom know how to act in a pleasantlyappointed home!and more, what wonder that the trusting, loving heart sometimes is too easily led astray through promises of a pretty home! If the home life could be made mor attractive to the young people; if. instead of this rush and scramble for a · living" all the time, we might be content with a little less, and spend more time for comtort, our young people would love their homes better and be far happier as they grow up

Someone has said that "our wants are measured by what our neighbors have," and young people want much more intensely than older ones. Then give the girls, and the boys as well, all the prettiness possible, and so teach them more real heart love for home -The Industrial.
